Custom manufactured hydraulic cylinders provide daily challenges at an industry leader with solid performance since 1967. The company provides a competitive base wage scale and benefits package including 11 paid holidays, 2 weeks vacation and 401k with 25% match after 12 months service, and support for continuing education opportunities.

Ability to read and understand written instructions, blueprints, and precision measuring equipment, and complete accurate calculations using shop math would be a plus, but we will train the right person. Welding candidates must be able to weld. Additional on the job paid training provided by the company on day shift. Positions above will train on days 7:00am-3:30pm weekdays before going to evening shift 3:30pm-12:00am weekdays. One Assembly II will be a first shift position.
