

BARTON

LIBRARY

Dare to know

Non-Fiction Comics

Comics that are intended to be educational or informational or that present facts or true accounts.
A category that encompasses works portraying through illustrations and storylines various areas of knowledge, such as biography and autobiography, economics, education, history, journalism, philosophy, and travel. The graphic novel allows the creator to thoroughly communicate personal, social, and cultural content.

